

Vicon Introduces Comprehensive Online VAX Access Control Training Course

On-Demand Platform Makes Learning Simple and Convenient

The new online class provides in-depth instruction on all aspects of VAX access control, from setup and programming to operational capabilities and special features. Coursework includes hands-on learning and exercises that make use of the actual VAX software. The new, online, on-demand format allows participants to schedule classes at their convenience, log-in from a location of their choice and learn at their own pace. This training program is organized into 14 separate training modules, each covering a separate segment of the system.

The Vax course is offered in two versions; both cover the same material. The Vax Certification Course is recommended for installing dealers. It takes approximately 10-12 hours to complete, including required testing, and must be completed within 60 days after starting the session. The Vax Basic Course does not include any exams, has no time limit for completion and does not confer "certified" status. The Basic course is intended for end-users and others seeking a greater understanding of the Vax platform. Unlike the Certification Course, there is no fee for the Basic version.
